

Councillor Stacy Middlemiss

Stacy Middlemiss was born and raised here in the Cowichan Valley and the closeness of this community and its rich culture are a couple of the many reasons she chose to stay and raise her family here. Stacy is a registered psychiatric nurse and holds a variety of positions where she work diligently to advocate for those who feel they do not have a voice. She has great passion for standing up and speaking out for what she believes in and she looks forward to bringing that ability to the council table. Stacy is a firm believer that change starts with a conversation and she is not afraid of having those, no matter how difficult they may be. Stacy is grateful to have been given the opportunity to represent her community for the next four years and looks forward to working together with the mayor and council to hear your voices and bring forth changes you wish to see.
